Dear Cid,

The Office of the Student Ombudsperson provides informal assistance to current Emory students and does not investigate complaints. Here is further information about that from our website:

The Ombudsperson offers assistance through informal means only and is not an advocate in grievance procedures, judicial procedures, or any other formal process. Additionally, the Ombudsperson does not conduct investigations or overrule decisions made by another university official. As an informal resource, the Ombudsperson is not authorized to accept formal complaints for Emory University. If you want to make the university aware of a particular problem, the Ombudsperson can refer you to the appropriate office or individual, or you can access commonly used offices directly here. The Ombudsperson is not a substitute for Student Counseling Services, academic advising, or other resources, but she can help you connect to and navigate those resources.

Professor Crespino is correct that if you wish to report discrimination or harassment, you should contact the Office of Equity and Inclusion at 404-727-9867.

All the best,

Dona

Dona Yarbrough, PhD
Ombudsperson for Students
Senior Director / Senior Associate Dean
Campus Life
Emory University
